

Privacy and Cookies Policy

1. Introduction

1.1 This Privacy and Cookies Policy sets out the privacy and cookies policy of BlockConGlobal (trading as Blockcon.co), a company registered in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic. For the purpose of the Data Protection Act (or relevant local legislation), the data controller is Blockcon.co.

1.2 By providing your personal information to Blockcon, you consent to the collection and use of it and any other information provided to Blockcon.co in accordance with this Privacy Policy. If at any time you wish to change the uses of your personal information to which you have consented, please contact us at marketing@blockcon.co. 1.3 Blockcon.co may revise this Privacy Policy at any time by posting an update on its website(s). This Privacy Policy was last updated in February, 2026.

2. Collection of Personal Information

2.1 We acknowledge and agree that any personal data may be processed or otherwise used by us solely to the extent required for the use of the Website, your attendance at our conference(s), the execution of your orders, and the performance of any of your requests, and in accordance with the applicable law on the protection of personal data. Personal data comprises any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person ("Personal Data"). Personal Data includes, but is not limited to your name, address, e-mail address, phone number, and financial details like credit card or debit card numbers. 2.2 We collect, process, and use the following information:

- Information you give us: We collect information you provide to us over the Website. This may include, in particular, your personal information, email address, payment details, or other information uploaded by you (e.g., photos, texts, etc.). Your Personal Data will be kept confidential and will only be used to complete the transaction, handle your attendance at our conference(s), send you our newsletter, and/or provide you with other Website services.
- Information from other sources: We reserve the right to request information from third parties (e.g., credit card information services) with regard to your payment behaviour in order to be able to offer you certain payment options. Once a payment is completed, all your financial details are erased again. We do not store any of this data.
- Automatic information: As soon as you visit the Website, we receive and save certain pieces of information, e.g. the IP address used to connect your computer to the Internet, web browser type and version, operating system, date and time of your visit, the websites you visit within our service and the website you came from if you visit our Website via a link from a third party website. We do this to learn more about your interests and to improve our Website and services.

3. Storage and Retention of Your Information

3.1 If you would like to change, update or delete your personal information in our databases, you may do so through your account profile or by contacting our customer support. We will make reasonable efforts to comply with your request. Keep in mind, however, that there will be residual information that will remain within our databases, access logs, and other records, which may or may not contain inaccurate or outdated personal information. The residual information will not be used for commercial purposes. We will retain your information for as long as your account is active, as needed to provide you with our services or as otherwise required by law. If you wish to cancel your account or request that we no longer use your information please contact us at marketing@blockcon.co. 3.2 Your personal data will be held and used by Blockcon.co, and any third party hosting provider acting on its behalf, in order to run the event and for analysing visitor traffic with a view to improving the event experience for visitors.

4. Transfer Of Data/Disclosure

4.1 Except as set forth in this Privacy Policy or when specifically agreed to by you, we will not disclose Personal Data we gather from you through your use of our Website to third parties. However, where applicable, your Personal Data will be sent to those companies involved in the fulfilment of your orders (e.g. financial details like credit card or debit card numbers to those companies involved in the payment transaction). We may also share your Personal Data with third party service providers that assist us with processing your Personal Data or support or help us to provide other services to you (e.g. data storage providers), but only in accordance with the purposes for which we collected the data. In case we share your Personal Data with such third party companies, we take steps to ensure that the third party companies use appropriate safeguards to protect your Personal Data. Furthermore, we share your personal information in the clearly identifiable public areas of our Website. 4.2 We reserve the right to disclose your Personal Data as we reasonably feel is necessary to protect our systems or business, including but not limited to complying with judicial orders or with government agencies or law enforcement officials to the extent the disclosure is in accordance with applicable data protection laws. Specifically, but without limitation, we reserve the right to disclose such information or documents when: (i) you are in violation of our Terms and Conditions; (ii) you partake (or are reasonably suspected of partaking) in any infringing or illegal activity, even without a warrant or other court order; (iii) in response to court and governmental orders, (iv) in response to allegations of infringement or illegality and (v) as otherwise required by applicable laws.

5. Security

The security of your Personal Information is important to us. However, no method of transmission over the Internet, or method of electronic storage, is 100% secure. Therefore, while we strive to use commercially acceptable means to protect your Personal Information, Blockcon.co cannot guarantee its absolute security and cannot accept any liability where the security of your Personal Information is compromised.

6. Cookies

We, along with many other websites, make use of so-called "Cookies". Cookies are small files that can be stored on your computer during visits to the Website. Cookies are used to facilitate your use of our services and to manage your visits. They enable our systems to recognise your browser and to offer you services, such as saving your shopping basket between visits to our Website. Cookies are solely saved on the computer you use while visiting our service. They are not stored on our systems. The help function available in the menu bar of the majority of web browsers will explain how you can prevent your browser from accepting new cookies, should you not wish to make use of the cookie functionality, how you tell your browser to inform you when you have received a new cookie or how to deactivate or delete received cookies. Some functions of our services may not be available if you set your browser to not accept cookies.

7. Limitation of Liability

Note: This section reiterates points from the General Terms & Conditions regarding event logistics. While included here for consistency with your source text, these points are typically found in T&Cs rather than Privacy Policies.

7.1 Blockcon.co and its subsidiaries will not be liable for any loss injury or damage to any person or property howsoever caused (save for death or personal injury as a result of Blockcon.co's negligence or for any other type of liability that cannot by law be excluded or limited.) 7.2 Blockcon.co will not be liable for the granting of any visas that are required to attend any event or conference. In the event that an attendee's visa is not granted tickets will not be refunded for any event or conference. 7.3 Please note that while speakers and topics are confirmed at the time of publishing, circumstances beyond the control of Blockcon.co may necessitate substitutions, alterations or cancellations of the speakers and/or topics. As such, Blockcon.co reserves the right to alter or modify the advertised speakers and/or topics if necessary without any liability to you whatsoever. Any substitutions or alterations will be updated on our website as soon as possible.

8. Third Party Websites

Our Website may contain links to other Internet websites, including co-branded or other affiliated sites. These linked websites have separate and independent privacy policies. This Privacy Policy only covers our Website and does not cover any other website. We have no responsibility or liability for the content and activities of these linked sites. We strongly encourage you to become familiar with the privacy practices of those sites. Nonetheless, we seek to protect the integrity of our Website and welcome any feedback about these linked sites (including if a specific link does not work).